Appeal over Viceroy Close flats plan

The planning application to build eight flats over the Viceroy Close car park behind Budgens and Iceland, first reported in THE ARCHER in February, reappeared over the summer.

How the Viceroy Close flats could look, looking from the entrance in East End Road

Developers Livemanor Ltd, based in Hampstead, appealed to the Planning Inspectorate on the grounds that Barnet Council had failed to make a decision within the statutory time period.

The appeal gave the public a second chance to make their own representations about the plan before a closing date at the end of August. The developer is also understood to have asked for a hearing to assess the scheme.

Traders and residents living near Viceroy Close have previously expressed concerns that the proposed loss of the current pay and display car park will deter more people from shopping locally.

They also fear it will create traffic problems along the High Road and East End Road if delivery lorries can no longer use the rear entrance to the supermarkets and other shops in Viceroy Parade.

Residents of Viceroy Close have also seen part of the car park fenced off for a substantial part of the summer for what is thought to be exploratory work ahead of any construction starting. One said the fence had made it difficult for delivery lorries to manoeuvre.

Developer's plan

The application submitted by Livemanor would see a three-storey block of eight flats built on the site with a tunnel entrance from East End Road and car parking retained for residents only.

The existing external staircase for residents of Viceroy Close would be demolished and replaced by an internal stairway and lift shared with the new apartments.

We await the decision of the Planning Inspectorate regarding the appeal over development on this very central site.
