Towering: An artist's impression of how the Finchley Central development could look.

'Canary Wharf' coming to Finchley Central

By David Melsome

A campaign group called Hands Off Finchley Central has been formed to oppose a major high-rise development that has been proposed for land in and around the area's tube station car park.

The group claims that plans by Transport for London, Barnet Council and construction company Taylor Wimpey for 668 flats, including a 27-storey tower, will overcrowd the area and swamp local facilities like GPs and schools, as well as putting pressure on already congested local roads.

It says only 12 parking spaces would be left at the station for tube commuters. Any development might also set a precedent for TfL building on other car parks elsewhere on the Northern line, including East Finchley's. A development of 350 homes is already planned for land next to High Barnet tube station.

Affordable housing shortage remains

Hands Off Finchley Central spokesman Rob White said

the group was not against the provision of badly-needed new housing but did oppose the nature of these particular plans. "This 'intensification', the sinister phrase used by Barnet, will destroy the heart of Finchley Central, by crashing a kind of pound-shop Canary Wharf into a peaceful and diverse suburb," he said.

The group argues that the flats risk becoming so-called shell investments or buy-to-let fodder that won't solve the shortage of affordable housing. It has launched a website and a petition at www.handsofffinchleycentral.co.uk

Transport for London said three years ago that station car parks represented a "huge opportunity" for new town centre housing. Barnet Council estimates that the Finchley Central development will bring £240 million of investment into the borough and revitalise the town centre.

Green bin charges

Barnet Council has announced that homeowners will have to pay an annual charge of £70 for their green garden waste bin to be collected from April, despite 82% of respondents to its consultation opposing the charge.

The council claims the charge is in line with other neighbouring councils and will enable investment in other environmental services such as street cleaning and upgrading roads and pavements.

Residents who sign up will receive a sticker to display on their garden waste bin to allow collection crews to identify that they have subscribed to the service. The council says information on registering will be available on its website and on leaflets to be delivered to homes.

Honours awarded

East Finchley couple Marianne and Peter Summerfield were appointed MBEs in the New Year's Honours list for their services to Holocaust education and awareness, as was Lillian Levy, from Highgate.

John Hajdu, chairman of the Muswell Hill and Fortis Green Association for the last 17 years, also became a MBE.
